

CONSERVATION

A unique component to Quadrant Homes' Living Sound program is our ability to balance the production of affordable new homes with a conservation effort that is unmatched in our region. Our commitment to the preservation and management of natural environments includes alliances with various land conservancy groups whose mission is to protect and steward our region's most precious resource - land.

Every new Quadrant homebuyer has the opportunity to help our efforts by joining one of these conservancy groups - at no cost to them. Our goal is not only to be a conservation partner ourselves, but to also raise that effort and awareness for each new Quadrant homebuyer.

"Conservation only makes sense if people have great jobs and housing choices. That's why the partnership between Quadrant and CLC makes sense and has benefited so many homebuyers."

—Gene Duvernoy
President, Cascade Land Conservancy

"By working together, Capitol Land Trust and Quadrant Homes will integrate conservation and long-term stewardship of important natural areas into the development process. Capitol Land Trust has a strong history of bringing people together around common ground and shared goals and this partnership with Quadrant Homes will benefit the entire community into the future."

—Eric Erler
Executive Director, Capitol Land Trust

"I have had the opportunity of meeting some of the people who have become members of the Great Peninsula Conservancy by virtue of purchasing a Quadrant Home. GPC is one of their first contacts with their new community and they seem genuinely pleased to be members and appreciative of the opportunity provided by Quadrant Homes to join an organization helping to shape their community, protecting their quality of life and saving the special places."

—Bruce MacDonald
President, Great Peninsula Conservancy

"Through its support of habitat conservation in the Nisqually River watershed, Quadrant Homes has redefined the concept of "home" to include our shared natural legacy - and helped to assure that this legacy will be passed on to our children, and our children's children."

—Joe Kane
Executive Director, Nisqually Land Trust
